End of War Is Stimulus, Not Sedative, Here

Local Industries Prepare for Expansion During Coming Months

An increase in activity, rather than a recession, is expected to be the effect that the close of the war will have on Antioch industries, in the opinion of local manufacturers.

At the Pickard, Inc., pottery plant located on Corona avenue, the installation of new machinery which could not be obtained until now because of difficulties resulting from the war was begun Friday.

"We expect this equipment to give us at least a 50 percent increase in capacity," states H. A. Pickard, president.

Frostee Sno company, Main street, manufacturer of silica products, including Christmas and window display ornaments, insulation, etc., has been putting in new ovens and allowing for the addition of a complete new line of merchandise as well as general increases in all of its products, according to Mr. and Mrs. John Oftedahl, owners.

At the Regal China plant on North avenue, where building has been in progress for some time, Ray Gruidl, superintendent, stated—"Our greatest difficulty has been that under War Manpower rulings we had to abide by limitations in hiring our workers. With the easing of this situation, we expect to continue expansion during the coming year at a greatly accelerated rate."

Some of the local plants have already announced plans for shortening their work weeks, while adding more employees to make it possible to cut down from a 48 to a 44-hour week.

The Antioch area's two great industries—agriculture and the resort trade—are also expected to be affected favorably, with anticipated releases of farm equipment easing things for the farmers, and removal of gasoline restrictions stimulating an already heavy influx of vacationists and commuters.

Since the armed forces and the war industries have both drawn heavily on Antioch's manpower supply, the release of servicemen and war workers is expected to ease the labor situation here rather than to allow for much of a surplus.

Many construction projects and improvements have also been delayed, pending the end of the war, and these may be expected to get underway during the coming months.

Mrs. Heinzelman, Cross Lake, Dies in Grant Hospital

Funeral Services are Being Held Today in Chicago Chapel

Funeral services for Mrs. C. J. Heinzelman of Cross Lake are being held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Lane Funeral home, 5501 North Ashland, Chicago. Burial will be in Mount Emblem cemetery, beside Mrs. Heinzelman's daughter, Mrs. Marian Heinzelman Schulz, who passed away 14 years ago.

Mrs. Heinzelman, who was 68, died Tuesday at 1 a. m. in Grant hospital, Chicago, where she had been a patient for two weeks. She had been ill for the past 10 years.

She was born in Germany, coming to this country as a young girl, and lived in Milwaukee and in Oak Park. For many years she and her husband, who survives her, had maintained a summer cottage at Cross Lake. They have been permanent residents there during the past 20 years.

Survivors include a son, John Heinzelman, Northbrook, Ill.; three grandchildren, John and Peter Heinzelman, Northbrook, and Miss Marian Schulz, Antioch; four sisters, Mrs. Martha Wall, Mrs. Anna Adams and Mrs. Erna Hyink, all of Milwaukee, and another sister living in New York.

Take Applications for Hot Lunch Program

State and federal aid to the hot lunch program for schools in Lake county will be continued during the coming year, according to an agreement signed by W. C. Petty, county superintendent.

About 50 schools took part in the program last year, he estimated. Applications may still be filed at the county superintendent's office by school wishing to take part this year.

Quality of Gasoline Is Being Improved

"Gasoline of better than per-war quality has been started to local motorists from Sinclair refineries," according to a statement made today by Joe Horton, local agent for Sinclair Refining company.

Horton said, "Sinclair refineries are shipping 75 octane Sinclair H-C housebrand gasoline and 80 octane premium grade. Wartime restrictions had limited housebrand to 70 octane and premium gasoline to 76 octane. Steps are also being taken to raise through blending operations the octane value of the gasoline now in storage so as to make available to the consumer prewar quality immediately. "It should take but a few days to restore pre-war quality in gasoline. We are anxious to give the motorist this new quality merchandise as soon as possible."

Grade and High Schools Prepare for Classes Wed.

Teachers to Attend Lake County Convention Next Tuesday

Classes will open for the 1945-6 school year Wednesday in both Antioch Grade school and Antioch Township High school, as well as in schools of surrounding communities of both Lake and Kenosha counties.

Members of the teaching staff of both Antioch schools will attend the Lake County Teachers' convention in Waukegan Township High school Tuesday.

A local teachers' meeting will be held at Antioch High school Tuesday evening.

Classes at both schools will start at 9 a. m., for a full school day on Wednesday. Registration of freshmen at the high school took place on Monday and Tuesday of last week. Other classes were registered at the close of the school year. At the Grade school, the books have been checked in advance with the anticipated enrollment, and everything is reported in readiness for an immediate start on the class work.

Tennis Court Completed

An asphalt concrete surface for the basketball court at the Grade school, which can also be used for volleyball, tennis and other games, has just been completed under the auspices of the Antioch Recreation association, with the cooperation of the school board and students.

A large part of the funds was raised by Grade school pupils through scrap drives, a bake sale and other activities last year.

In addition to a new surface for the basketball court, the surface was renewed under the school merry-go-round, the swings and the slide.

Plan Scrap Drive

The Grade school pupils are now making plans for a scrap drive to be held during the first or second week of school, to raise funds for the purchase of new recreation equipment.

Despite the end of the war, there is still a critical shortage of paper and other materials, it is pointed out.

First Lt. Robert G. Phillips, reported missing in action over Japan May 24, has been found a prisoner in Japan, according to a "flash" received by the Chicago Herald American, which immediately notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Phillips of Antioch, early this afternoon.

While not official confirmation has been received, Lt. Phillips' name was included in a list of newly released prisoners, and it is believed that the report may be considered authentic.

Has Air Medal

At the time he was reported missing Lt. Phillips was serving as a bombardier on a B-29. He had been notified of his promotion to first lieutenant three days before going on his last mission, and although he had been overseas only three months, he had also received the Air medal. He had entered the service May 30, 1943.

Legion States Servicemen Are Now "Eligible"

Those on Active Duty May Now Join Organization, Ruling

With the cessation of hostilities, men who are remaining in the armed services, as well as those who have received their discharges, are eligible for membership in the American Legion, the Antioch post has been informed.

An invitation is being extended by the Antioch post to servicemen from this area who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity to join now. Applications may be presented in person or by mail at a meeting to be held Thursday evening, Sept. 6, it is announced by C. L. Heath.

The official announcement, in the form of a "telegram" published in the National Legionnaire for August, 1945, is as follows:

"Important. Attention called to provisions National Charter, National Constitution and Executive Committee action, November, 1944, wherein persons remaining in armed forces after cessation of hostilities as fixed by U. S. Government immediately become eligible to membership in American Legion prior to discharge or separation from service.

"The pronouncement of the war end immediately increased Legion eligibles by some twelve million. Suggest immediate initiation of department and post membership promotion plans so that American Legion world-wide membership contacts will be started at once.

"As suggestions, departments should check membership material needs, post could be alerted to sending membership applications to servicemen from their communities, Legionnaire parents might desire to send paid-up cards to sons and daughters in service, posts might solicit firms for complimentary memberships to all former employees, or posts complement first year's dues by paying state and national dues only, thus assuring receipt of national and department publications.

"Suggest this telegram in whole or part might be duplicated and transmitted by your office to each post your department. Contents this telegram approved by National Judge Advocate.

"Edward N. Scheiberling, National Commander."

The Lake county AAA committee, again calls attention to the fact that there is a great demand for all legume seeds. Farmers are advised to harvest alfalfa and red clover seed instead of cutting it for hay, August 1 crop reports indicate that the production of hay harvested from this year's crop will be only one million tons smaller than the record 105 million ton crop made in 1942.

In recognition of this demand, Triple-A offers a special payment for harvesting alfalfa, alsike and red clover seed. The program also includes a poundage payment for seed when it is sold for movement into areas where seed is short, or where certain types of seed cannot be produced.

Open Chain O'Lakes Section for Hunting

Hunters have already received with interest the news that a 1,000-acre tract in the Chain O'Lakes state park in Lake and McHenry counties will be opened for public shooting this fall, according to an announcement made by the Illinois State Department of Conservation, which recently acquired the land.

Several hundred pheasants will be released on the area each day during the pheasant shooting season, Nov. 11 to 25, according to present plans.

Hunting permits for Chain O'Lakes will be issued by the Conservation department.

Accidents and Heart Attacks Bring Squad Calls

Hugh Sheahan, suffering from a heart ailment, was removed from Dr. R. D. Williams' office to the Lake County General hospital Monday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock by the Antioch Rescue squad.

Monday morning at 2:30 o'clock, the squad was called to Route 21 half a mile south of Loon Lake, where an automobile had skidded and overturned, causing injuries to Dale Elvin Larson, 19, of Libertyville, which proved fatal.

Larson was removed by the squad to Condell Memorial in Libertyville, where he passed away at 4 a. m. His death was attributed to head injuries and internal injuries.

Larson was a passenger in a 1931 roadster driven by his brother, Pvt. Arthur Larson, 24, home on furlough after service in the quartermaster department of the army air forces in the European theater. Pvt. Larson, Elmer Hoskins, 17, and John Welch, 17, Libertyville, received cuts, bruises and other injuries.

The youths were returning home from Loon Lake when the driver lost control of the car, which veered off the road on the east side, skidded back on the highway and overturned, coming to rest on the west side of the pavement, headed north-east.

H. Henderson, Kenosha county, a passenger on a motorcycle, suffered abrasions when the machine was struck by an automobile pulling out of North avenue from the west into Main street, Sunday. Henderson was thrown over the handlebars, the squad members learned, on answering a call to administer first aid.

Last Thursday at 4:20 p. m., the squad was summoned to Petite Lake to assist Dr. I. L. Breakstone in administering oxygen to a heart case.

Morgan Flaherty, 84, Passes Away Wed. in Hospital

Services Will be Held Saturday Morning in Chicago

Morgan Flaherty, husband of Ellen Flaherty and father of the Rev. Francis M. Flaherty, pastor of St. Peter's church in Antioch, died in St. Therese hospital, Waukegan on Wednesday.

He suffered a stroke last Friday, the day after his eighty-fourth birthday. He was taken to the hospital on Sunday.

Mr. Flaherty was born in Dingle, County Kerry, Ireland. After coming to this country he made his home in Chicago until last October when he and Mrs. Flaherty, who had been an invalid since the previous June, came here to live with their son at the rectory. Mr. Flaherty had been a motorman for the Chicago Surface Lines for almost fifty years.

He and Mrs. Flaherty celebrated their golden wedding four years ago. They had eight children, two of whom died in infancy.

Four Big Days of Entertainment Are Being Planned

Dancing, Games and Refreshments to be Included in Program

A real highlight of the summer season will be provided by the big four-day Lions Club festival which will open Friday and continue through Monday evening. Dancing, games, music, refreshments and many additional features will help to insure a pleasant time for all who attend.

Proceeds will go to a fund for providing lighting equipment for the Antioch Township High School athletic field.

Other organizations and people of the community in general are giving enthusiastic support to this project.

Many will aid the Lion members in putting on this festival, working on the numerous committees set up to take care of the large crowds expected to swell attendance over the Labor Day holiday.

Free, Supervised Parking

Free parking on a lot adjacent to the festival grounds, on the Ackerman property behind the village park, is expected to be an important drawing card to motorists rejoicing in the recent removal of gasoline restrictions.

The outdoor floor owned by the Lions club will be used for the dancing.

No effort is being spared to make sure that there will be sufficient variety to insure the enjoyment of all who attend.

Spent—or Invested?

"Spending so many years in school"—"Spending so many dollars for education"—phrases of this general tenor often give the impression that no return is ever received for either the time or the money that goes into education all through this country.

However, there is spending—and spending! Granted, that for the time and the money, it might be possible for our young people to get better educations than they do; educations that may be more suitable in preparing them for life.

Nevertheless, we don't believe that the years and the sums spent on schooling can be considered otherwise than in the light of an investment.

Of course, not all returns on investments roll back into the purses of the country or of those being educated immediately. In the first place, they are not all financial. Some of them come back in the form of greater enjoyment, understanding or appreciation of people and things.

Statistics are often quoted to show that education brings returns in the form of higher income, over the period of a lifetime, on the average. It is true, however, that there are often striking exceptions to this rule.

Some of them are due to the fact that "making money" in itself seems to be something of a specialized gift. There seem to be certain people who have a flair for it, just as others have a gift for acting, carpenter work, cooking, gardening, sewing or music.

Then, too, there are those who make large incomes incidentally, as the by-product, so-to-speak, of the possession and use of some outstanding talent or ability.

However, often education serves as a tool for use of natural talents to a fuller degree than might otherwise be the case.

Again, many "self-made" persons who boast of their lack of education actually have given themselves a fairly good education by their diligence in learning things, their use of the powers of observation, and by their study of things in which they were particularly interested.

Life in itself is the greatest of all educators. Schools and classes are, however, the most CONVENIENT devices we seem to have been able to figure out, up to date, for the transmission of knowledge, in concentrated form and within a relatively brief period. Not all studies are equally suitable for all persons, not all persons may wish to invest the same sum of money or the same number of years in education.

There are girls who would rather be waitresses than teachers; there are youths to whom the field of labor has more appeal than the career of a doctor. The world needs all of them, and it is hard to say which may be the more necessary. It is true, also, that the financial circumstances of families, and other circumstances, have considerable bearing on the number of years some persons can afford to spend in securing their education. A rich man's son may go to college for four years because he can afford to do so, and because there is no immediate necessity for him to go to work, where a youth in a poorer family, whose earnings are needed to supplement the family income or who is obliged to get out "on his own" at an earlier age, may not be able to put in the years of study necessary to becoming a civil engineer or an architect, for instance.

It really seems necessary, in the end, for each one to determine for her or himself how much education, and what kind he or she may find most useful through a lifetime.

Letting air out of tires as heat builds up the air pressure higher than the recommended pressure is known as "bleeding." Bleeding tires increases flexing, resulting in still higher temperatures, faster tread wear and tire failures, when tires have been bled, the air pressure drops below the recommended pressure after the temperature returns to normal.

Library News

(By Marian Rigby, Librarian)

Thomas B. Costain employs three remarkable men, Edward I. of England, Roger Bacon and the Mongol General Bayan, as background in his swashbuckling historical romance, "The Black Rose." Walter of Gurnie is a doughty hero, and the reader follows his wandering from England to Cathay, empire of Kublai Khan.

In "It's a Free Country," Ben Ames Williams deconstructs how easily the American success story can become the American tragedy. His characters become warped by the pressure of life and their own weaknesses into caricatures, unsparingly described by Williams.

"Minor Heresies" is an unusual book about China. Its author, John Jenkins Espey, who spent an unorthodox but vastly diverting childhood there, was the son of a Presbyterian missionary.

In the furor created by Catherine II of Russia, misnamed the Great, her gallant predecessor, Catherine I, has been overlooked. Phil Stong corrects this slight in "Marta of Muscovy." Marta, who becomes Catherine I upon her marriage to Peter the Great, is a peasant girl whose native wisdom and beauty influence the course of history.

at shore stations outside the United States receive each week 15,000 kits of America's favorite weekly and monthly magazines, according to a report from the public information office at headquarters, Ninth Naval district, Great Lakes, Ill.

The magazines, provided free by the Navy, which are included in a kit of 32 separate titles, are all pony or overseas editions, carrying no paid advertising and limited in size and bulk.

Large ships and bases receive kits at the rate of one for each 150 men and smaller ships and bases receive at least one, regardless of size.

To guarantee widespread and rapid distribution among enlisted personnel, the magazines are sent by fast surface mail and air transport where available, to the welfare and recreation officers of individual units.

Cost of the magazines, approximately $65,000 monthly, is paid from profits of Navy ship's stores.

Selection of the magazines for distribution has been made in cooperation with the Army Special Services division, which has had more than two years' experience in developing and distributing kits to personnel overseas. Special surveys by the Bureau of Naval Personnel are also being initiated to determine whether the majority of naval personnel is receiving the reading matter desired, and to eliminate duplication and lighten the mail load.
